LEVERTON Elevates Abhinav Somani as Chief Revenue Officer and Richard Belgrave as Head of Europe

LEVERTON has today announced the appointment of Abhinav 'Abe' Somani as Chief Revenue Officer and Richard Belgrave as Head of Europe – Key roles within the Company's global leadership team. With a fast-growing portfolio of clients globally, Abe and Richard will be working towards building a global, customer-centric approach to North and South America, Europe, APAC, and other regions of the world.

"We are very delighted to have Abe join the Executive team and bring his years of financial and entrepreneurial experience to the firm," said Emilio Matthaei, Founder of LEVERTON. "Aligning with LEVERTON's focus on real estate, legal and accounting lease abstraction, Abe's global perspective, sector expertise and his deep relations with clients and partners will accelerate our expansion plans. His background is perfectly suited to help us scale and advance our mission to build an efficient platform for structured data and document management globally."

Abe joined LEVERTON in 2016 and has been since managing the North American operations which he will continue to do, in addition to taking on his new role at LEVERTON. He will work closely with Richard Belgrave, Head of Europe, Dan Wucherpfennig, Chief Operating Officer, and Florian Kuhlmann, Chief Technology Officer to deliver the best product to the market.

"I'm thrilled to take up this new position at such a pivotal and exciting time in the Company's history as the strategy, technology, and brand merge around a unique and unified platform," said Abe Somani, CRO, LEVERTON. "LEVERTON has been growing rapidly and has become the leading platform for efficient and effective document and structured data management, globally. We are all about making our customers happy and delivering a solution that they want – and this is a pivotal step in making that continue to happen."
